All Superforts Return From Tokyo Raid

WAR PLANTS IN ENEMY CAPITAL 'BOMB TARGETS

Anti-Aircraft Fire Over City Inaccurate, Meagre, Yankees Report

FIRST NIGHT MISSION

Cloud Coverage Prevents Accurate Observation Of Blast Results

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30—The War department reported today that all B-29 Superfortress bombers have returned to their Saipan bases after blasting industrial targets in Tokyo Wednesday night in their first night mission and the third attack on the enemy capital in six days.

The latest raid on Tokyo was accomplished by precision instruments and results were not observed because of cloud coverage, said a 20th Air Force communique, but the Japanese admitted that fires were started at "several places."

Air crewmen reported that anti-aircraft fire over the city was

Nips Learn Horrors Of Night Raid

"Bombers Moon" From Now On To Stir Fear In Japanese Capital

B-29 BASE, SAIPAN, Nov. 30—(East Longitude Date)—Tokyo learned the naked dread of a "bombers moon" last night. For the first time in the war the Japanese capital was subjected to a night aerial attack. A medium force of Superfortresses roared over the city in waves as a full moon rode high.

It was the third B-29 raid in six days and the first attempted at night in a pattern developed by the Royal Air Force that proved so devastating over Europe. A statement by Twenty-First commander Brig. Gen. Haywood Hansell, Jr., revealed that with the aid of the moon the attack was intended to combine the best features of both area and pinpoint daylight bombing.

Hansell's statement said: "The industrial and shipping targets in Tokyo bay should stand out sharply against the outline of the water. An opportunity is afforded to use our bombsights under these conditions. We will exploit this—and every—opportunity to put our bombs on the industrial targets which constitute the backbone of Japanese war-making capacity."

The film construction of a large percentage of Tokyo's buildings long has been recognized as a factor in making the city particularly vulnerable to area attack and last night's sweep constituted the first real chance to put this premise to a test, since previous raids were designed for specific objectives.

The bomber Behemoths took off shortly after dusk and swept into the night skies as casually as a train of great transports and while thousands of workers at this base barely paused to watch the sight, so quickly accustomed had they become to it.

Senior officer on the night mission was Col. Samuel Harris, Winston-Salem, N. C. At the controls of the lead plane at the take-off and possibly the first plane over the target, was First Lieut. Donald G. Thornburn, Burlingame, Cal.

WILLIAMSPORT GOES OVER TOP IN BOND DRIVE

Williamsport is the first district to go "over the top" in the Sixth War Loan drive, County Chairman Clark Will announced Thursday.

Williamsport exceeded its quota in the first day of solicitation, Mr. Will said. H. W. Campbell, chairman for Williamsport and Deer Creek township, reported to Mr. Will Wednesday afternoon that the quota was passed before noon Wednesday. A total of $11,400, more than double the quota, had been subscribed Wednesday and several solicitors had not reported.

Charles Gilmore, chairman of the special projects committee, announced Thursday the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric company had purchased $22,500 in 1/2 percent certificates through the county War Finance committee.

Other large purchases reported by Mr. Gilmore was $5,000 by the Ohio Fuel Gas company and the purchase of $1,000 by the Kroger Grocery and Baking company for each store in Pickaway county.

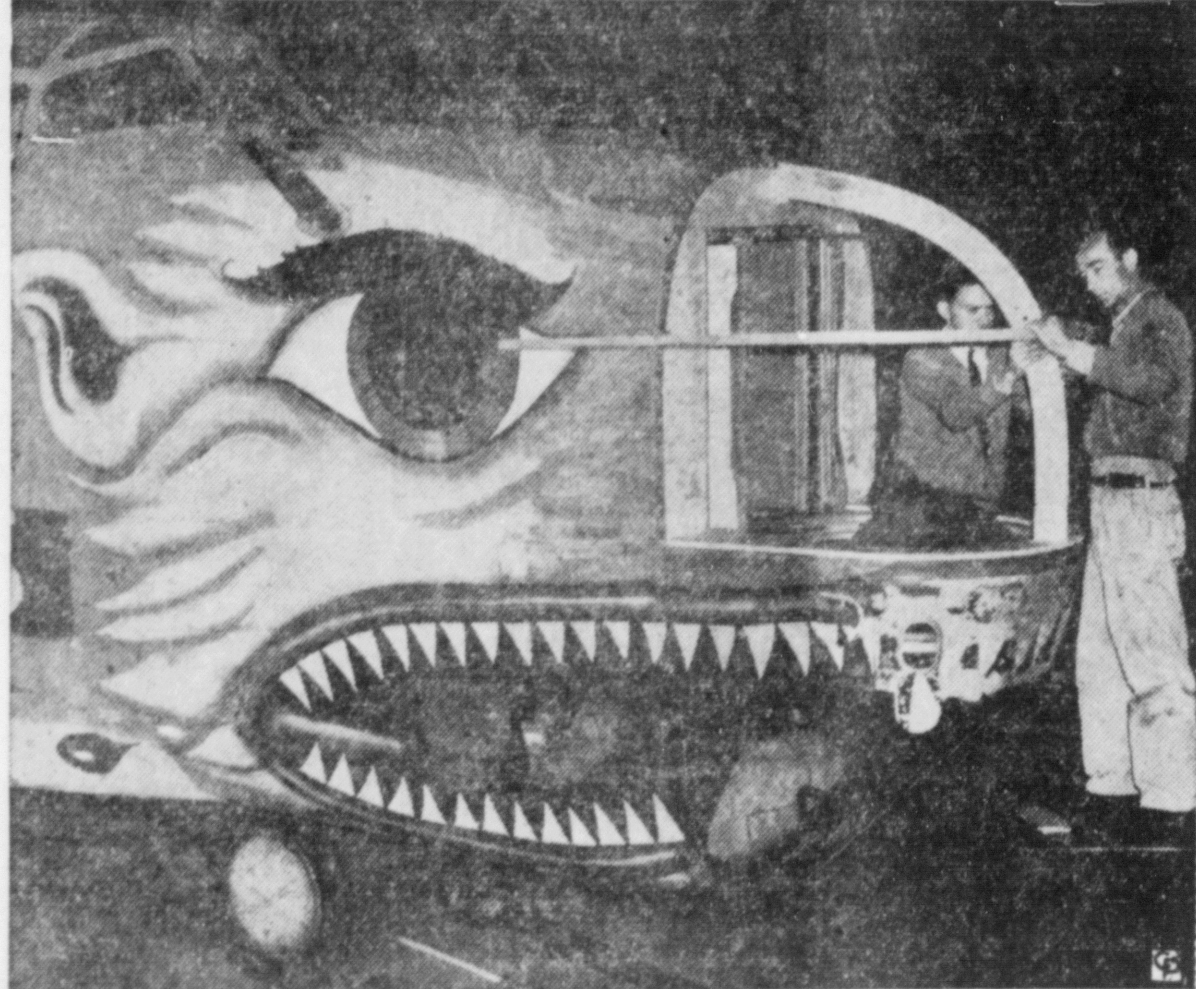

A good response was reported by solicitors Wednesday in Circleville, but no figures on the amount of bonds sold are available.

FIRST ACTUAL SNOW FALLS IN COUNTY AREA

Colder weather and the first real snow reminded Circleville residents Thursday Winter is here.

The official thermometer stood at 26 degrees Thursday as the last day of November began. High mark Wednesday was 43-degrees. The light rain which preceded the snow and the snow itself made a total precipitation of .02 inch, Weather Observer Roy Hawkes reported.

"WAR WEARIES" COME BACK FOR REJUVENATION

WHAT HAPPENS to the planes of the AAF after they have grown old and tired in their country's service? Whence go the gallant "war wearies"—the Liberators, Flying Fortresses, Mitchells and Marauders—after they have been shot full of holes by German and Jap gunners? An ATSC depot in the U. S. is the answer. At these depots the fighting ships are prepared for a life as guinea pigs to pilots in training or, if their health is not too impaired, they are rejuvenated to serve again on the battlefronts. The scary-looking object above is the nose of the B-24 "Flying Dragon" being remodeled by ATSC experts Clyde A. Harnass, left, and Willis D. Hunter at Wright Field, Ohio. A veteran of many combat flights, the "Flying Dragon" will soon be fit for action once more against the Japs. This is an official United States Army Training Service Command photograph. #### U. S. AGREES TO ASSIST SPAIN

Export Of Foodstuffs To Great Britain Will Be Aided By U. S.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30—The United States has agreed to support the flagging economy of Spain, which has lost all its European markets, by assisting Spain's exportation of foodstuffs to Great Britain, it was learned in diplomatic circles today.

With the invasion of France, both from the north and from the south, Spain has been isolated from her best customers in Europe—Germany, Switzerland, and even France—and her economic condition is described as near the point of collapse.

Though American officials have openly expressed indifference to the effect this may have on the Franco regime in Spain, it was learned that the United States has agreed to ship 1,900 tons of tins of sardines to Spain, to make the packing of 120,000 cases of sardines for Great Britain.

This is part of a new British agreement to purchase two million dollars worth of foodstuffs from Spain, consisting of oranges, onions, and sardines. But it was found impossible to ship the sardines without tins for packing. Therefore, the United States was asked to provide the tins, and the first shipment of (Continued on Page Five)

YOUNG CANUCKS STAGE SPREE OF ROCK THROWING

MONTREAL, Nov. 30—Scores of downtown windows were smashed today in Montreal following a spree of some stone throwing by more than a thousand young French-Canadians, rioting here in protest against conscription.

The latest outbreaks were the biggest yet in Montreal and climaxed a mass meeting at which Andrew Laurendeau, provincial head of the popular bloc party, charged that Quebec was betrayed in parliament by her own spokesmen.

Windows of Le Canada, French-Language newspaper supporting the government of Prime Minister Mackenzie King, were completely smashed. Police prevented crowds from carrying out the same destruction against other King-supporting newspapers, the Star and Gazette, leading English evening and morning dailies.

MEDICS CLAIM COLD VACCINES ARE WORTHLESS

CHICAGO, Nov. 30—The use of vaccines to fight the common cold was described as virtually worthless by the American Medical Association today.

A combined report of the association's councils on pharmacy, chemistry and industrial health published in the current issue of the association's journal, stated: "Vaccines for colds cannot be recommended for routine administration to industrial groups or to individuals. At present, any attempt to prevent colds by the use of vaccines must be recognized as purely experimental and any proposal to administer such a vaccine, if given at all, should take this into consideration. As in all measures of a purely experimental nature, the uncontrolled use of any cold vaccine now available should be discouraged."

MAN AND EAGLE FIGHT TO DEATH IN COLORADO

DURANGO, Colo., Nov. 30—A battle to the death between a man and a bald eagle at Timberline in seven degrees below zero temperature was revealed today as Stanley Paskovan, the winner, recovered from wounds and lacerations inflicted by the huge bird.

Paskovan, a miner at La Plata, Colo., had felled a tree in which three eagles were perched. One of them, with a seven-foot wingspread, resented the intrusion and attacked Paskovan. It crashed into Paskovan's back and sank its talons into his shoulders. Paskovan managed to grab the eagle by the neck and the fight was on. After he killed the bird, Paskovan walked 17 miles through snow 10 feet deep in places, to Durango for medical aid.

ERROL FLYNN AGREES TO PAY LILI'S INCOME TAX

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 30—Film star Errol Flynn, after being cited for contempt in domestic relations court, agreed today to pay his former wife, Lili Damita, $11,336 between now and Dec. 31.

Through his attorney the actor conceded that the money was due Miss Damita as reimbursement for income taxes paid in 1942 and 1943 on her alimony of $18,000 a year. Flynn made a down payment of $4,000 and agreed to pay the balance at the rate of $1,000 a week or more.

GREEN SLATED FOR REELECTION

All Other Officers Of AFL Also Scheduled To Retain Posts

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 30—The American Federation of Labor was scheduled today to re-elect its officers and select Chicago as the 1945 convention city as the concluding business of its 64th annual meeting.

President William Green, for 20 years head of the federation, was slated for continuance in this post, along with Secretary-Treasurer George Meany and the 13 AFL vice-presidents. Green has displayed great vigor at the 1944 meeting despite his 70-odd years.

Minneapolis and Louisville both put in bids for next year's AFL convention, but it appeared that the votes were lined up for Chicago.

ARNOLD SAYS JAP INDUSTRY TO BE WRECKED

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 30—Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the Army Air Forces promised today that the Army and Navy would "bomb Japanese industry into a state of paralysis—just as we're doing in Germany."

In a fighting speech before the national convention of Veterans of Foreign Wars, last night, General Arnold said: "We're going to destroy the heart and nerve centers of Japan's war machine. Japan will have little industry left when our Army and Navy air forces complete their tasks of destruction. "This relentless, coordinated attack on Japan will be continued with ever increasing force. They've asked for it and they're going to get it."

AID FOR VICTORY ONLY

Some Shipments, Such As Steel, To End After First Of Year

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30—The United States government today closed the door on reported British requests for permission to re-export commercially articles received under American lend-lease and revealed shipments to the United Kingdom are expected to be cut in half when the European war ends.

In a new statement on the American aid program, it was also disclosed that after the first of the year the United States will discontinue sending the United Kingdom exports of some raw and semi-fabricated materials, such as iron and steel.

The statement was made by a special committee composed of the newly-appointed secretary of state, Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., and Foreign Economic Administrator Leo T. Crowley.

Parley Scans Needs The committee represented the United States in discussions with a British delegation, headed by Lord Keynes, economic advisor to the British treasury, following the Quebec conference last September on lend-lease aid required for the defeat of Germany and Japan.

In restating U. S. lend-lease policy, the committee also disclosed that lend-lease shipments to the United Kingdom after V-E day are expected to be cut one-half with exports of some raw and semi-fabricated materials, such as iron and steel, discontinued after Jan. 1, 1945.

The committee emphasized that lend-lease has been extended "for one purpose—and for one purpose only—the defense of the United States and to enable our Allies to bring the full weight of their men and resources to bear against our common enemies." That policy, it said, "will be continued without change."

Reiterating that lend-lease aid has been made available to Allied (Continued on Page Five)

BETTER DAYS ARE PROMISED BY CHURCHILL

LONDON, Nov. 30—Prime Minister Winston Churchill celebrated his 70th birthday today with an address to the house of commons which promised better days for civilians after the fall of Germany, but warned that the defeat of Japan will have first call on British supply even after the Nazis are crushed.

The premier disclosed that the program of lend-lease aid to enable Britain to play her full part in the battle against Japan already had been outlined in Washington in conferences by leaders of the American administration and Lord Keynes, chief of the British mission on supply.

When Germany falls, said Churchill, both England and the United States will be able to release some of their manpower for the production of civilian goods "without any reduction in our proportionate (war) efforts."

He said improvements in civilian diet would be possible then and that more could be done to build temporary and emergency houses to care for those whose homes have been destroyed in the blitz and by the robots.

The premier also said that with the Nazis knocked out of the war Britain also must make serious efforts to rebuild her export trade "which we deliberately gave up in the extremity of our emergency, but without which we cannot live in the future."

LITTELL OUSTED BY ROOSEVELT

Insubordination Charge On Assistant Attorney General Sustained

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30—President Roosevelt today removed Norman Littell as assistant attorney general on the grounds of "inexcusable insubordination."

The President's action was made public by the justice department as a climactic development in the open feud between Attorney General Francis Biddle and his assistant in charge of the lands division.

In a formal statement, the President declared that Littell's action in volunteering a long statement on his dispute with the attorney general had the effect of "substantiating . . . his insubordination."

"This is inexcusable," the President said, "and under the circumstances the only course is to remove him from office, which I have done today."

Statement By Biddle Attorney General Biddle issued a simultaneous statement on the Little matter in which he accused his assistant of issuing "reckless and unfounded statements."

Biddle declared that he did not propose to enter into any controversy with Littell in the public press, but added:

"As head of the department of justice I must take responsibility for its operation and will not tolerate such serious disloyalty or insubordination from any member of the department even if he thinks that it is his public duty to remain in office after he has been asked to resign."

Biddle reiterated his statement that he had asked Littell to resign because "our relationship had been such that I no longer reposed in (Continued on Page Five)

NO NEW AUTOS FOR HALF YEAR AFTER V-E DAY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30—A prediction there will be no new cars available for civilians until at least six months after the defeat of Germany was made in Washington today by Ray Chamberlain, executive vice-president of the National Automobile Dealers Association.

Chamberlain also anticipated rationing of new cars for "some time" after the new supply becomes available due to the excess demand over supply.

Russians Open Terrific New Push Against Huns In Southern Hungary

By International News Service The U. S. Ninth Army of Lieut. Gen. William H. Simpson lashed out toward the northeast from the Gellenkirchen sector today in a smashing new drive against the German defenses along the Roer river which guard the routes to Cologne and the Rhineland.

At the same time the U. S. First Army of Lieut. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges blasted its way west of Aachen in a drive which Berlin admitted was mounting a growing threat to their lines, and the U. S. Third Army blasted its way ever closer to the rich region of the Saar.

Improving weather enabled Allied air forces to give increasing support to the Western Front of offensive with assaults against enemy troop concentrations and supply routes farther behind the lines.

Frost hardened the ground along the Third Army Front which enabled Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton to increase the pace of his armored drive.

Patton Advances To the south of Patton's accelerated columns the American Seventh Army fought its way to points 16 miles south of Strasbourg where they are striving for a junction with the French First Army moving northward from the liberated Belfort Gap.

The Seventh Army met heavy opposition from the Germans who are trying to prevent the junction of the Yanks and French and the encirclement of Nazi positions in the Vosges.

The new thrust of the Ninth Army sent Yank troops smashing into Beek which was revealed by front reports to have been enveloped in flames as the Germans held only a small sector in the north of the community. Spearheads swept on to the vicinity of Lindern after a German counter-thrust was beaten down, and seized heights commanding the Lindern-Linnich road.

The Ninth Army also cleared the Germans out of Kossler, to the west of the Roer river, while the First Army closed in on Duren by slamming back enemy counter-attacks at Inden and Limmersdorf.

Take Forest Towns The last of the Nazi resistance in Jungsersdorf and Langerwehe ceased and the First Army fighting farther to the south punched its way out of the Hurtgen forest to occupy the towns of Hergen and Kleinau.

The Third Army moved more than a half mile toward the Saar basin early today and took possession (Continued on Page Five)

STIMSON SAYS LACK OF SHELLS DELAYS DRIVE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30—Secretary of War Stimson, in the most urgent appeal yet made for the greater production of heavy artillery ammunition, disclosed today that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's all-out offensive on the western front was delayed by the shortage of shells for the big guns.

Stimson emphasized that American boys would pay with their blood for the lack of the necessary ammunition.

"We insist on overwhelming artillery power, not merely to gain success," Stimson said, "but more particularly to hold down casualties."

"Every shell we can fire tends to save a life," Stimson said. He explained that ammunition was originally limited by the destruction of French railways in the sweep across France, and subsequently, by the failure to gain ports where the ammunition could be delivered.

Now, he declared we could disembark and transport much more if it were available.

THOMAS HEDGES, GREGOR ZIEMAR HONOR HEROES

Radio Commentator Writes
"Halfmast" After Cemetery
Visit With Local Man

The American cemetery of Cambridge forms the background for a touching article "Halfmast", written by Gregor Ziemar, former WLW news commentator after he and Thomas R. Hedges, Circleville, visited the cemetery where many American soldiers are buried.

The article was written by Mr. Ziemar in the hut in which he and Hedges live in England. Both are employees of the OWI in England. Hedges, the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Hedges, 128 North Pickaway street, has been in England for about a year. He was sent to London as an expert in radio to the embassy of the United States. He was transferred to Cambridge where he is engaged in special work as a radio engineer.

Before going to England Mr. Hedges was in charge of the radio intercept command for the federal communications commission in New York. He wears the uniform of a war correspondent and is attached to officers' quarters. His wife, Mrs. I. A. Hedges, and children live at 593 North Court street.

Mr. Hedges sent Mr. Ziemar's article to his mother, stating he believed it would be a comfort to parents who have sons buried in England.

"Halfmast"

The article follows:
Sometimes the heart is so full that a drop overflows it. Yes, and sometimes the heart stands still, while indescribable emotions come flooding out of the void; then jaw muscles tighten in some grand resolve which MUST find expression in words. Hence these words:

Today I stood under an American flag at halfmast; the mound on which the flag pole was planted was covered with flowers, yellow and blue and red. Overhead the sky was blue, with fleecy clouds driving past in a spanking breeze. A grand majestic roar filled the Autumn sky, the roar of bombers, more and more of them, till they seemed to raise echoes in the halls of time itself—bombers on their way to Germany.

In the distance I saw the gently rolling country of Cambridgeshire, and on the low horizon the yellow and red towers of the famous university where Alfred Tennyson was an honored student.

What a grand "In Memoriam" he would write, had he stood where I stood... amidst the white crosses of the American Cemetery of Cambridge... rows upon rows of crosses... each casting a neat black shadow on the grave behind...

Peace of Eternity

The peace of Eternity lay over that cemetery, the eternal peace of accomplishment. There they lay, without discrimination of race, color, creed, or rank... Catholic and Protestant, Jewish, Mormon dead; private next to officer; women of the service next to men of the service.

Through the green landscape of Cambridgeshire we cycled, two of us, to visit the Cemetery of Cambridge. We left behind us the halls of learning of old Cambridge, where so much wisdom has been expounded by learned men, where so many eager young human beings have learned for centuries. But one thing no man has ever learned; how to understand what Man can do to Man when perverse ideologies possess his soul.

The hedges were green, the grass was verdant; along the side of the road poppies and cornflowers, daffodils and lupins were still struggling along in the October sunshine as if it were June.

In the fields the English farmers were turning the brown sod, preparatory to raising what they fondly hope will be their last war crop.

American Cemetery

We pushed up a long, gentle hill, past a picturesque old mill, with wings reminiscent of Holland. And then to the right in quiet dignity stood a shield, "American Cemetery."

A white gravel roadway led into an oak copse, the stout leaves still full of life. Half hidden in bits of woods stood a building, marked Chapel. The door was only ajar. We stepped inside, my partner and I. Almost as if in one gesture our hats came off.

On a special pedestal stood a strong brown box, covered with an American flag.

Under the flag, in that wooden shrine lay an American soldier—the last to die for his country in England to date.

To both sides were vases with wild autumn flowers—free autumn flowers, with a touch of God's outdoors still on them. And the touch of God's hand seemed to rest lightly on that coffin of the American soldier in that little chapel far from his home, wherever that may have been. We stayed long enough to say a prayer, and then left him there, this honored dead.

Dead of Cambridge

We turned to face what we had come to see, the Dead of Cambridge. It was a beautiful day on which to visit heroes... here weather, flying weather, the kind of weather in which a flyer's soul gets its greatest thrill, a ground wind from the Northeast—strong enough to help lift the heaviest plane, a strata of more quiet air above. Most of the dead of the Cemetery are flyers—now, always!

As if by magnet, which it always is to American eyes in a foreign land, our look was drawn by the American flag... on its staff, so red, so blue, so white, but at Halfmast.

And then, as if with a certain reluctance, for human beings are thus made by nature, our eyes dropped to the crosses.

The Cambridge-American Cemetery is a new cemetery. The border plots are covered with green sod, beds of fiery red geraniums are boldly proclaiming their defiance of Autumn; but the first dead of Cambridge Cemetery came to dwell in its hallowed ground less than 11 months ago.

The Cemetery slopes toward a gentle valley. Beyond acres which some day will be the mecca for thousands of visiting relatives from America, lies the horizon—spots of yellow where chestnuts are blazing in golden glory, spots of brown where open fields are

To the People of this Community

Here is something to think about tonight before you drift off into slumber:

The Marines who died at Saipan would stir uneasily in their graves if they knew that some of us at home are thinking of victory over Germany in terms of new automobiles or refrigerators—rather than in terms of total effort against Japan.

The speaker is Brig. Gen. Robert L. Denig, of the Marines, whose son died for America in the Pacific.

The Sixth War Loan gives you the opportunity to meet the challenge of his statement. Neither the home front nor the fighting front will pay a soft price for the march on Tokyo. More than four million armed, fanatic Japs backed by a home front of 75,000,000 people on a slave basis producing for war, bar the road to victory. No Hirohito on a white horse compels you to work 12 hours a day and eat a starvation diet. Is staying on the job and putting every possible cent above the necessities into War Bonds asking too much?

As you recall General Denig's words, your urgent duty is to answer that voice with this pledge: "My thinking, my money, my time will stay in this war to the finish."

THE EDITOR.

waiting for seeds, and everywhere the sweet of British meadows.

But here, at the Cambridge Cemetery, is America—America, at its most holy, America at its grandest, best.

Reverent Atmosphere

There is an atmosphere of reverence over this great Cemetery. Somehow there is nothing of death in the pattern of neat crosses—only quiet dignity and strength and—of course, something more—Hope.

Down near the foot of the Cemetery are the new graves. Three times a week, services are held for those who have made the supreme sacrifice for land and nation... each man is buried with full military honors, with all decorations; each is buried according to his religion; each is buried by comrades; each is laid to rest to the manly sound of three volleys; each is given the final blessing by his own particular chaplain.

As you stand among the honored dead of Cambridge-American Cemetery, you get an impression that you hear a thousand voices, all speaking with resignation of an involuntary early end, all speaking with defiance of an enemy who succeeded somehow in ending their careers, but all speaking, as in one grand chorus, of hope.

Warning to World

If those who would prevent America from being great; if those who would sow discord among the two great English speaking nations of the earth; if those who do not believe that there are principles worth living for, much less worth dying for, could come to the Cambridge-American Cemetery, I wonder what THEIR re-actions would be?

Would they dare mumble maudling words of selfish devotion to gain and competition and national aggrandizement? It is difficult to stand among the quiet graves of Cambridge-American Cemetery and hear anything but the voice of Hope.

Hope that man's inhumanity to man cease, yes; hope that war will end, yes; hope that civilization beat its breast and lock within, yes. But more than that, hope that somehow human beings will realize that unless there are to be more and more military cemeteries all over the world, humanity must realize now, NOW, that this is the time to make wise, long range plans for a post-war world—plans which will produce, somehow a post-war period which will remain post-war.

Essential Plans

These plans seem very essential as one stands among the crosses of this bit of America in Britain; and it seems not impossible to make wise plans. If it is possible for American soldiers to leave homes and loved ones, to fight in the European skies, to die in British hospitals, to lie in British soil under British sun and rain, and green British grass, while the American Banner waves overhead; if it is possible for them to do this, surely it MUST be possible for the LIVING to find some sort of pattern which will make a repetition of these impossible.

It is difficult to tear your eyes away from those crosses—they speak so articulately, so insistently, yes so softly—without rancor, without hatred—but with such deep, sincere conviction.

We finally did turn our backs on the dead, and went to the headquarters of the Cemetery, where an American, Lieutenant Stanley M. Newman, spoke to us about the place which he and his colleagues have turned into one of the most revered spots in the world today. Parents, wives, relatives who have a loved one resting here, can be assured that their men were given all attention they would have received back home. Nothing has been overlooked. Everything has been done to make the last rites for our American soldiers truly American in every respect, truly religious.

Records Viewed

And then the Lieutenant, in his quiet office, showed us a long sheet of paper, with straight black lines marching up and down the page, indicating the daily rate of burial. Certain days stand out with sharp peaks, like mountains of granite among a range of softer stone. Those sharp peaks mark special days—D-Day, the day when the Germans succeeded in sneaking in disguised bombers over England, bad weather days.

But after the interview, one feels that one cannot leave the place without stepping once again to the edge of that sacred plot... The hand snaps to the cap in military salute, the eyes roam once again over the crosses, the ears listen again for the voices speaking with that deep quiet urge—"Do something, you who are living—the rest is up to you."

And it is as if each white cross suddenly becomes ablaze with glory—as if a flame stands over each grave, as if a new spirit descends out of heaven itself and covers all those who are dead—those who still live.

And you turn away—and your eyes are wet—not from the October wind, but touched with holy determination. To put this determination into words is futile. To put it into ACTION seems the only possible answer to the crosses in the American Cemetery, Cambridge.

NAVY OFFICERS SAY JAP FLEET TO FIGHT AGAIN

Yanks To Go In After Nips If They Fail To Come Out

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30—High ranking Navy officers are convinced today that, despite the terrific beating the Japanese fleet took after the Leyte landings, it will come out and try to fight again.

Failing to do so, the Navy plans to seek out all available Jap warships as soon as the bases from which to get at them are available.

While no official announcement has been made to this effect, the attitude was made clear when Vice Admiral Marc Andrew Mitscher held a news conference at which Secretary of Navy James V. Forrestal and Fleet Commander Ernest J. King were present.

Mitscher has just returned on leave from the Pacific where he has faced Jap naval and air power for the last three years. For the last year and a half he has commanded Task Force 58, composed of aircraft carriers, which, in three months, has been in 24 combat operations, including the latest battle of the Philippines.

Mitscher's views
His comment was chiefly personal but neither of his superiors dissented from his views. They were:

1. That the Jap fleet will come out and fight again and that, once Philippine bases are established, the U. S. fleet will be able to "drive them from every port in the area, including the Chinese ports."

2. The aircraft carrier has lived down the reputation for vulnerability which it earned early in the war. These "mobile bases" can launch practically every type of plane and stand up under offensive fire. A landfield can be finished off in a couple of hours once its line of supply is cut and its planes destroyed.

3. Jap naval aircraft is "practically eliminated." More than 4,000 planes have been destroyed, a rate at which even the U. S. with superior production, would have difficulty replacing losses.

4. Even were the planes replaced there would be trouble replacing pilots. This has been evidenced by the fact that the quality of Jap pilots is so low that some U. S. pilots "are almost sorry to shoot them down."

5. Jap officers, though "vicious brutes" are not highly competent. If there are any higher officers who are brilliant, Tokyo has not sent them out yet.

Mitscher supplemented his remarks by saying that the U. S. Army, Navy and Marine Corps are the best on earth. He predicted a long war in the Pacific, adding, "the sooner the people back home realize this, the sooner they'll inspire the men out there."

KINSEY ROBBERY LEADER NABBED BY FEDERAL MEN

Carl Hugo Marksberry, 32, alleged leader of a clothing theft ring that operated in Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana, Thursday was under sentence to a federal penitentiary.

Marksberry participated in the $10,000 robbery of the Kinsey clothing store in Circleville two years ago and FBI agents were put on his trail by Irvin Kinsey, manager of the store. At a trial of other members of the gang caught some months ago Mr. Kinsey identified a picture of Marksberry as one of the men who visited his store the day before it was burglarized.

FBI agents who arrested Marksberry in Kansas City recently, said he was the leader of the gang. Marksberry was sentenced in Cincinnati district court to three years in federal prison on charges of interstate transport of a stolen truck and to two year terms each on two charges of stealing clothing.

USS SULLIVANS AVENGING FIVE IOWA BROTHERS

Destroyer Working Up Good Irish Mad And Sending
Japs To Death

ABOARD USS SULLIVANS
SOMEWHERE IN WESTERN PACIFIC, Nov. 30—This concentrated bundle of dynamite has already gone a long way toward avenging the five Iowa boys for whom it was named and is just working up a good Irish mad.

Since joining the fleet last January the destroyer Sullivan has:
1. Helped sink a Japanese cruiser off San Bernardino straits south of Luzon in the Philippines.

2. Shot down one Japanese dive-bomber in the first battle of the Philippines sea last June; and is credited with helping destroy another in the Philippines sea battle of October.

3. Aided in the rescue of two damaged American warships off Formosa—one of the truly great stories of the war which cannot even yet be fully told.

4. Bombed Ponape and Iwo
Jima, the latter on July 4.

5. Rescued nine Navy aviators who had been forced to land their planes in the water and has otherwise played its assigned role to the hilt in virtually every fleet action of the past ten months.

Sports Shamrock

The Sullivan still sports a green shamrock on its forward stack and smaller ones on its lifeboats—the only destroyer in the fleet permitted to carry distinctive insignia.

In the wardrooms of many des-troysers the picture and sometimes the sword of the naval officer for which it was named, hangs at the head of the table.

Sullivan's Abroad

In the Sullivan's place of honor is reserved for an enlarged snapshot of the Sullivan brothers and autographed by their mother.

Of the 23 Sullivan's who have been assigned to the destroyer at one time or another 13 are left.
Among them is Patrick H., a paternal uncle of the five boys. Patrick H. Sullivan, who celebrated his 45th birthday aboard last August 30 is a machinist's mate 2nd class. He was a member of the original crew and has been aboard ever since.

A navy veteran of 25 years ago, he was recalled to active duty in June, 1942, and narrowly missed being aboard the Juneau when it was sunk with the five Sullivan's in the battle of Guadalcanal, November, 1942. He learned of their fate when he returned to the States from the South Pacific in January and when USS Sullivan's was ordered he asked to be assigned to the ship.

Discussing the ship's record he said: "We've done okay so far, I guess. But I'd like to see us get a lot more of those . . ."

KIDS WILL BE KIDS

With so much to see and read these days they're apt to strain their eyes more than ever. Here's some practical advice for protecting your children's eyesight . . .

1. WATCH THEIR LIGHTING!
Even if there were a reading lamp in this picture, the bulb would be too far away from the floor to give Johnny the light
he needs. When your kids read or study, see that they're near a good reading lamp . . . in some other position than this!

2. HAVE THEIR EYES EXAMINED regularly by a competent eyesight specialist. One out of five children in school, two out of five in college, have poor eyesight. And, remember, if your child wears glasses, that defective eyes need good light even more than normal eyes.

WAR PLANTS IN ENEMY CAPITAL BOMB TARGETS

Anti-Aircraft Fire Over City Inaccurate, Meagre, Yankees Report

Salpan-based Superfortresses, the communique said.

Bomb By Instrument

"The bombing was accomplished by precision instruments and results were not observed because of cloud coverage. Aircrews reported that anti-aircraft fire was meagre and inaccurate. None of our aircraft was lost from enemy action."

The communique did not reveal the number of Superfortresses that were involved in the latest raid, but dispatches from Salpan described the attacking force as "medium."

The Japanese radio said two separate fleets of the huge B-29's had hit Tokyo, one at 11:55 p. m. Wednesday and a second at 4:15 a. m. Thursday (Japanese time).

Tokyo broadcasts reported the planes dropped incendiaries and explosives in a "blind" bombing attack, causing three fires which were promptly extinguished.

Shizuoka Bombed

Enemy broadcasts said that while one formation was dropping incendiaries over Tokyo in the first assault, another "small formation" penetrated into Shizuoka prefecture and dropped bombs there. Shizuoka prefecture lies on the coastline below Tokyo.

The 20th Air Force's initial report on the latest attack which marked the first time the B-29's had struck Tokyo by night, merely said targets in the Tokyo area were attacked by Brig. Gen. Haywood S. Hansell's 21st Bomber Command based on Salpan.

The newest blow on Tokyo answered an appeal from Gen. Douglas MacArthur to bomb Japan "hard and often" and thereby lessen pressure on the Philippines. It also served to emphasize the words of Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the 20th Air Force, that the might of America's air arm will wipe out Japanese self-sufficiency by blasting the enemy's industry "into a state of paralysis."

MacArthur Pleased

Gen. MacArthur in a message to Gen. Arnold said:

"My heartiest congratulations on your Tokyo strikes. As well as hitting the heart of the Jap industry they divert his attention from the Philippines. You will help me greatly if you hit hard and often."

Arnold made it clear that Japan would be hit frequently. He said in a Kansas City address that from bases are gained closer to Japan, Fortresses and Liberators will take up the job now being handled only by the B-29's.

"We're going to destroy the heart and the nerve centers of Japan's war machine," he said. "Japan will have little industry left when our Army and Navy air forces complete their tasks of destruction."

Arnold's mention of "Navy air forces" indicated that carrier planes may soon join in the attack. A high naval official recently said that Japan can expect attacks by as many as 2,000 carrier-based planes.

nations only when it contributed directly to the war effort, the committee declared "that policy will also be continued without change."

"There will be no change in the principle as laid down by the government of the United Kingdom in its white paper of September, 1941, that no articles received under lend-lease from the United States shall be exported commercially," the committee said.

It was explained that the United States and United Kingdom will seek to insure that no exporters will receive undue competitive trade advantages as a result of the war, and that after V-E Day the British Commonwealth may export articles within limitations imposed by war, lend-lease or cash arrangements.

Discussing the proposed removal of iron and steel from lend-lease, the committee said:

"This will have the effect, under the terms of the white paper itself, of removing products made from such materials from limitations that will continue to apply to articles received under lend-lease."

Both the United States and the United Kingdom plan to reconvert part of their resources for civilian needs after Germany is defeated, the committee pointed out, and direct rehabilitation measures will be aimed at relieving the British people of their six years' endurance of active war front conditions.

The committee said it "believes that a program which will help in achieving this objective is a matter of necessity for the most effective prosecution of the war against Japan, and that it expressed in some measure the common bond which has carried our countries through the hard days of the war to approaching victory."

Postwar foreign trade problems were barred from the discussion agenda with the review limited to war supply problems of lend-lease and reciprocal aid, the committee said.

GREEN SLATED FOR REELECTION

promised to go down in record as one of unusual harmony. No serious floor fights developed and the AFL vented its anger on the CIO, the War Labor Board and the National Labor Relations Board.

The WLB was attacked for its failure to recommend upward revision of the "Little Steel" wage freeze, and the NLRB for its allegedly pro-CIO policy. The CIO was accused by the AFL of "raiding" activities and of having "communist controlled" unions.

The assertion in the "International Teamster," official publication of Daniel J. Tobin's teamsters' union, that the teamsters swung the election to President Roosevelt and led 95 per cent of the AFL membership to vote for him caused mixed reaction among some of the AFL leaders, but no official expression.

Green was non-committal, merely describing Tobin as a qualified observer.

Other highlights of the two-week convention included:

AFL reaffirmation of the no-strike pledge.

A fervent appeal for John L. Lewis to bring his 600,000 miners back into the federation.

An expressed desire for unity with the CIO.

A demand for labor representation at the peace table.

Rejection of an invitation to attend a world trade union conference in London because of the presence of Russian delegates.

Reassertion of labor's desire for representation on an economic council to direct reconversion and postwar federal planning.

LITTELL OUSTED BY ROOSEVELT

him the kind of confidence that was essential for the best interest of the department of justice."

Littell Aids Views

Details of the quarrel were given to the senate war investigating committee in a memorandum by Littell, in which he said it was evident that Biddle objected to his testimony before congressional committees.

In reply Biddle denied this and said that he asked Littell to resign because "I lost confidence in him."

Littell, however, said that Mr. Roosevelt had not acted on Biddle's request that the president "fire" him.

The amazing story told by Littell in his memorandum included:

1. Biddle asked him to settle a Savannah shippers' case in which, Littell said, Tommy Corcoran, lawyer and former New Deal bill drafter, represented the company. Littell said he refused, fearing a scandal.

2. Counsel for the securities and exchange commission admitted SEC refused to give Littell all its information on the Savannah company because it feared it would "leak" through the justice department to Corcoran.

3. Biddle asked him to curb testimony before house public lands committee after he made report criticizing navy oil contract with Standard Oil of California for development of Elks Hills naval reserve. He accused Biddle of giving copy of report to Standard Oil lawyers while refusing to give copy to house committee.

4. Littell charged Biddle falsely told Sen. Harry S. Truman, former chairman of the war investigating committee, that he did not have copy of report on Breakers Hotel case in Florida, which the committee was investigating.

Rapped By Biddle

5. Biddle castigated him for testimony before congressional committee criticizing Will M. Clayton, surplus property administrator, for planning to turn sale of farm land over to R. F. C., but Secretaries Ickes and Wickard complimented him on his testimony.

The most amazing assertions of Littell dealt with Biddle's alleged close relationship to Tommy Corcoran, who is reported to have made a fortune as a lawyer since he left the New Deal in which he wielded great influence in the first and second Roosevelt terms.

Littell explained that the government decided to condemn the Savannah shippers, subsidiary of Empire Ordnance, after he, said, it failed to meet its war job. He said the law firm of Dempsey and Kaplowitz, which he described as a "front firm" for Corcoran, sought to settle the case.

He said these lawyers first sought $1,900,000 and that in the end the company was condemned for $1,255,000. He was called to Biddle's office for a conference on a settlement. He said:

"On the way to the attorney-general's office, one of his principal advisers stopped me in the corridor to ask me to 'hold my own' against him in the settlement of this case—that Tommy Corcoran had been in and out of the attorney-general's office in the department of justice every day for four days, that the settlement of the case 'would be a scandal for the department and for the protection of the attorney-general' I had to stand fast on it. I did."

Littell said later on Biddle told him that he was right in not settling it, but he dated Biddle's hostility from this period.

Stressing Biddle's close relations with Corcoran, who represents many corporations dealing with the government, Littell said Biddle sought to have Corcoran appointed solicitor-general.

Littell also said Biddle sought to have Corcoran's brother promoted in the office of U. S. Attorney, New York. Littell said:

"The mere possibility of bringing under Tommy Corcoran's influence the greatest law enforcement office outside of Washington, D. C. in the department of justice was shocking indeed. I have been asked many times in recent years—what has Tommy Corcoran got on Biddle?"

RAIL CENTER OF HANNOVER HARD HIT BY BOMBERS

LONDON, Nov. 30—The industrial and rail center of Hannover in Western Germany was hammered during the night by squadrons of British Mosquito bombers, the air ministry announced today.

The Germans retaliated against England by sending over more rocket bombs during the night and early morning hours, inflicting new damage and casualties.

FIRE DAMAGES CAR

Considerable damage was done to a car owned by Bruce Stevenson, Route 56, Thursday morning when it caught on fire near the intersection of Routes 56 and 22, Circleville firemen reported. Firemen said the fire apparently started when alcohol boiled out of the radiator and ignited.

PUBLIC WARNED TO MAIL GIFTS, CARDS AT ONCE

Pickaway county residents who want Christmas gift packages delivered before Christmas were reminded Thursday by Postmaster A. Hulse Hays they must mail them at once.

The national campaign to shop and mail during November produced a good response at the Circleville post office, Mr. Hays said, but many people have failed to heed the warning.

"It will be absolutely impossible for the postal service to handle all the mail before Christmas if packages are not mailed within the next few days," Mr. Hays declared.

The postmaster also called attention to earlier warnings about mailing Christmas cards earlier than ever this year. The mail system is crowded with important wartime mail with experienced help at its lowest ebb in years, he pointed out.

Mr. Hays stated that mistakes are still numerous by careless persons. The most common errors are lack of proper addresses and the attempt to mail Christmas cards overseas with one and a half cent stamps. All Christmas cards sent overseas must be sent first class, with three cent stamps, he again declared.

Christmas mail this year will be the largest in history of the postal service and he stated that only the cooperation of the public would make possible delivery before the holidays.

session of strategic heights overlooking Merzig, less than two miles away. South of Merzig other Third Army columns moved into the vicinity of Jarlingen, west of Saarlautern, and moved on Sarre union in Eastern France to the south of Saarbrücken, threatening to flank that German industrial center.

The Nazis launched a violent counter-attack against the Fifth Army in Italy and finally recaptured the towns of Belvedere and Corona in the most intense enemy activity on the Italian front in weeks.

A series of the Nazi attacks with Army and artillery were beaten back by the Allied forces until the Germans brought in reinforcements and seized Mount Castellaro, some nine and a half miles south of Bologna.

Under the growing Nazi pressure, the Fifth retired to prepared positions where the Nazi advance was halted. The Germans also launched terrific counter-attacks against the British Eighth Army in a futile attempt to halt their two-pronged advance against Faenza and their steady advance toward the key city of Ravenna.

Prime Minister Winston Churchill disclosed that the port of Antwerp now is entirely open to Allied shipping. This means that the chief supply problem has been overcome and it can safely be assumed that all Allied armies now are sufficiently well-equipped and reinforced to uncoil the big blow once there is reasonable assurance of sustained good weather to permit air operations.

The Russians opened a terrific new drive against the Germans in southern Hungary, smashing across the Danube south of Budapest along a 93-mile front for gains of 25 miles which swept up more than 330 cities, towns and villages.

U. S. AGREES TO ASSIST SPAIN

600 tons will be made in a few days, officials said.

The shipment will be made in Spanish ships to Spain, and will be followed by other shipments up to the figure of 1,900 tons.

Officials added that Spain desires to secure large quantities of other materials from the United States, especially heavy machinery, fertilizers, fine chemicals, rubber, and cotton, as well as greater quantities of petroleum.

In cotton alone, Spain desires to secure 100,000 tons a year.

As yet there was no indication that the United States government would permit export of these materials to Spain, or that Spain would be permitted to sell other than the strategic materials desired for the war effort.

The Spanish viewpoint, as expressed in Washington, was that the United States is now the best potential customer of Spain, and that unless this market can be enjoyed, Spain must face serious economic consequences.

These same sources emphasized that Generalissimo Franco does not desire to remain indefinitely in power, but that his strong control is needed for the time being, to prevent "chaotic conditions and the spread of communism."

OUR ANSWER

To "A Challenge To The Water Company"

In yesterday's Daily Herald a "Water Committee of Council" issued a "challenge to the Water Company." To that challenge we now reply.

What is the REAL Issue?

The question upon which the electors will vote is Whether Or Not ORDINANCE NO. 4010 passed by the Circleville Council shall take effect.

What Is Ordinance No. 4010?

It is an Ordinance "To Appropriate Property For The Purpose Of Acquiring The Circleville Property of The Ohio Water Service Company for the City of Circleville and to Provide a Water Supply for said City."

Section 1 of this Ordinance provides, (and we quote the ordinance itself) "That the following described property BE and the same IS HEREBY APPROPRIATED to public use for the purpose of supplying a municipally owned water service and supply."

Section 2 of this ordinance provides "that the solicitor be and is hereby authorized and directed to apply to a court **** to have a jury impaneled to **** assess the compensation to be paid for such property."

The REAL ISSUE is Whether or Not the above Ordinance No. 4010, which provides for the APPROPRIATION and ACQUIRING of property and for the assessing of the price to be paid for property ALREADY APPROPRIATED Shall or Shall Not take effect, and the ballot upon which you will vote will so state.

Citizens of Circleville:— Think of This:—

In paragraph three of the so called "Challenge to the Water Company," it has, in effect, been indicated that, after the price has been fixed by a Jury, if the City is not satisfied with the price, it may drop the whole matter.

DO YOU KNOW?

That if the City attempts to drop the whole matter once a Jury has fixed a price, it must pay the penalty fixed by law?

That is, if, after the price has been fixed, the City fails or refuses to pay the price, it must pay all of its own expenses and all of the Court costs, including reasonable attorney's fees and expenses paid by the Company. That would certainly run into thousands of dollars. It is also a very complicated and a new kind of case.

DO YOU KNOW?

That NO OHIO CITY OR VILLAGE HAS EVER CONDEMNED A WATER WORKS or any kind of public utility. Two or three of such cases have been started in Ohio, but NONE has ever been tried out to a finish.

In fact, we doubt if any City in the whole United States has ever fully condemned a water works, gas plant or electric light plant. At least, we find no record of any such case.

It may be a NOBLE EXPERIMENT for Circleville, but it may be an EXPENSIVE experiment. The City may be out many thousands of dollars of money needed for other purposes with absolutely nothing to show for the outlay. If condemnation is such a good way to get a water works, it seems to us that some other city somewhere would have found it out before this. IF IN DOUBT, VOTE NO.

Water Committee of Council:

NO!

The Water Company does not fear a determination of value by a Jury.

May We Ask?

Why does the City Council fear a REFERENDUM on its ORDINANCE to APPROPRIATE and ACQUIRE our property?

CITIZENS OF CIRCLEVILLE: The Securities and Exchange Commission HAS NEVER, and, we believe, WILL NEVER order any of the individual properties of the Ohio Water Service Company to be sold. It HAS NOT ordered the Circleville property (or any other of our properties) to be sold. It has SIMPLY ordered the Federal Water & Gas Corporation to DIVEST itself of a LARGE BLOCK OF STOCK owned by Federal in the Ohio Water Service Company. STOCK ALONE was concerned in that order, and NOT any TANGIBLE or INDIVIDUAL PROPERTIES. WE HAVE ABSOLUTELY NO FEARS ON THIS SCORE.

We brand as mistatements the assertion in the so called "Challenge" that "If you vote NO your chances of owning the system, obtaining soft water, and securing better fire protection, ***** are virtually gone."

The Water Committee of Council has FAILED to inform the Citizens that as far back as May 16, 1942, in a formal written report, we stated to Council that, when the war is over, if the Citizens of Circleville want a SOFTENING SYSTEM, WE WILL PROVIDE IT, at a very small additional rate cost to the citizens. WE WILL STAND ON THAT OFFER.

We maintain that our rates are low in comparison with numerous other cities.

On behalf of our employees, who are citizens of Circleville and Pickaway County, we RESENT the implication that the service furnished by us and them is either inefficient or impolite.

Vote No—And You Have Nothing To Lose
Vote Yes—And It's a Different Story

YANKEE AIRMEN SINK 13 MORE JAPANESE SHIPS

More Than 4,000 Nips Die
In Try To Reinforce
Troops On Leyte

GEN. MACARTHUR'S HEAD-QUARTERS, PHILIPPINES, Nov. 30.—Thirteen more Japanese ships and an estimated 4,000 troops attempting to reinforce the Jap garrison on Leyte island lay at the bottom of the Camotes sea today, following another smashing aerial victory by American planes.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, in his morning communiqué, reported that bomb-carrying Thunderbolt and Warhawk fighters spotted the convoys well out at sea, destroying one large cargo transport, seven troop transports and three escorting destroyers.

Two additional large cargo ships which succeeded in reaching Ormoc and discharging supplies were bombed into complete wreckage by the deadly fighter-bombers.

Second Division Sunk

It was believed that the troop transports which the Yankee pilots sent to the bottom contained a large segment of the Imperial Japanese Second Division, dispatched to reinforce Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita's badly pounded forces hanging out in the Ormoc corridor.

Seven Jap planes in a formation offering cover to the convoy were blasted from the skies by American airmen who suffered no losses in the furious air battles.

The convoy was spotted late Tuesday afternoon and in a short time, the American pilots began tearing into the ships, skip-bombing and machine gunning the enemy vessels with deadly accuracy.

When first attacked, the convoy consisted of one destroyer, two destroyer escorts, two large freighter-transports and another transport of unspecified size.

Sent To Bottom

One transport was sunk before nightfall, another was damaged and a destroyer was hit. During the night, American patrol planes kept contact with the enemy ships, attacking whenever the opportunity came, and Wednesday morning, the ever ready Warhawks and Thunderbolts returned for the kill.

As lightning fighters provided a cover, the death-dealing 'Hawks' and 'Bolts' blasted the convoy to the bottom even as seven additional Jap troop and cargo transports came steaming into view and met the same fate.

It was the sixth Jap convoy destroyed in Yamashita's frantic and costly attempt to reinforce his troops at Ormoc, which also has been undergoing terrific aerial, artillery bombardments.

Thus far, a total of 26 enemy transports, having an aggregate tonnage of 82,750 tons, and 17 escorting warships, most of them destroyers have been sunk or wrecked, and more than 20,000 Jap troops have been lost in enemy attempts to maintain their foothold on Leyte.

Gen. MacArthur has estimated 45,000 Japs have been killed on Leyte since his troops began liberation of the strategic island in the center of the Philippines last October 20.

That units of the Japanese second division were aboard the sunken transports was learned from Jap troops captured on Leyte, who disclosed they had been informed that this particular division was en route to help them fight their way out of the Ormoc corridor where they are penned in by Doughboys of the 32nd and 96th Infantry Divisions and the First Cavalry Division.

LOCAL MAN'S BROTHER WINS SILVER STAR

Staff Sgt. Walter F. Halstenberg, Centralia, Ill., has been awarded the silver star for gallantry in action and the Purple Heart, his brother, William Halstenberg, Herald pressman, has been informed.

Sgt. Halstenberg is serving with the 14th Infantry and his silver star award was given him for action in France June 23, 1944. The citation states: "During the attack on the city of Cherbourg, Sgt. Halstenberg and 11 others took cover behind a hedge-row when they were subjected to intense fire from enemy artillery, anti-aircraft weapons and machine gun fire. Sgt. Halstenberg seized a machine gun, leaped to the top of the hedge-row and sprayed the enemy position forcing the gunners to take cover. This valiant action permitted the 11 beleaguered men to reach an assembly area without incurring a single casualty, after which Sgt. Halstenberg made his own way to rejoin them under renewed enemy fire."

The Purple Heart award was for injuries received in a later battle.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO- ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

sharp increase in unemployment next year unless prompt measures are taken to prevent it.

Kaiser, who is enthusiastic about Roosevelt's hopes of "60,000,000 jobs after the war," rushed into the White House with a post-war job program of his own. He told FDR he could swing it if he got a governmental go-ahead on reconversion.

Roosevelt told Kaiser he was delighted to hear of his plans, but asked if Kaiser wasn't getting a little too far out in front, with the war still in progress.

"No, Mr. President," said Kaiser. "We've got to go to work on this right away. I may have half my shipyards closed down by June; so unless I and other war producers can guarantee our workers jobs, our manpower is going to leave us. In fact, we've lost too many men already. Our workers are trying to get into peacetime work even though the war is a long way from being over. They don't want to be left holding the bag."

"But Henry," said the President, "your contracts run all through next year, don't they?"

"Oh, no," said Kaiser. "Most of them are scheduled now to wind up in June or July. Besides, they all have cancellation clauses and we don't want to be caught short."

TIME FOR RECONVERSION

Kaiser then explained how thousands of other contracts may collapse next year on short notice, putting millions of workers on the street.

In reply, Roosevelt quoted War Mobilizer Jimmy Byrnes to the effect that there was plenty of time to plan for reconversion.

To this Kaiser declared that Byrnes was over-optimistic, and probably hadn't been able to study the picture carefully enough. Kaiser also pointed out that a good business man tapers off his work several months before a contract ends, so that even when contracts last until July, lay-offs start in March.

The upshot of all this was twofold. First, Roosevelt authorized Kaiser to make an appeal to war workers to stay on the job, assure them that adequate consideration would be given to keeping them at work in the post-war period. Second, Roosevelt promised he would review the reconversion picture himself and take prompt action to see that industry is given greater opportunity to plan for speedy reconversion.

Big fly in the reconversion ointment is that Byrnes is overloaded with work, plans to quit after the defeat of Germany, can't get his heart or his teeth into the post-war side of his job.

Until recently, Byrnes hoped to retire at once as "Assistant President," didn't feel he would have anything at all to do with reconversion.

THEY still die—will YOU buy?

THE biggest part of the war job is still ahead. The easiest part is lending money; but it is just as essential as fighting.

Without adequate equipment, American fighting men can not win a war 5,000 miles from home. To deliver such equipment is an undertaking so vast and costly that the Japs expect us to quit! ## ARMY-NAVY GAME--PLAYED FOR YANKS IN LONDON

ETTA KETT

ADLER VISITS TAVERN

Ed "Archie" Gardner, who thinks a mouth organ is a tongue, is host to Larry Adler, the harmonica whiz, on "Duffy's Tavern" Friday.

300th BROADCAST DATED

Henry Aldrich and his family and friends, including Homer, observe the 300th broadcast of the series Friday.

FBI GETS ITS MAN

On the second broadcast of the new crime drama series, "The FBI in Peace and War," a thrilling story of mounting suspense will be presented, with the provocative title: "The Terror Racket," on Saturday. "The Terror Racket" concerns an unusual case involving extortion and threatening letters and has a surprise climax ad--like all the airings in this series illustrates another instance of "how the FBI got it's man."

LOMBARDO SALUTES

Guy Lombardo and his orchestra will play the favorite song of the football captain of the Army eleven on his "Musical Autographs" session, Saturday after the Army-Navy grid classic. The name of the pigskin leader is, strangely enough, Tom Lombardo, though he is no relative of Guy's.

RADIO NEWS NOTES

Al Pearce, returning to the air in his starring show, "Here Comes Elmer," on Dec. 9, will hold a double celebration. It'll also mark 15 years on the air for the "hope, I hope, I hope" comedian. Pearce formed a "Happy Go Lucky Hour" program in 1929 and broadcast it over a California station. Even before that he had been a professional entertainer for 13 years.

When Georgia Gibbs, singer on the Jimmy Durante-Garry Moore programs, is a guest on "Hall of Fame" Sunday, her microphone companions will be Fredric March and Victor Borge.

Frederick L. Collins, author of the new show, "The FBI in Peace and War," aired on Saturdays, end and stayed a month. His purview to Washington for a week pose was to obtain material for a magazine article on the Federal Bureau of Investigation, but when he discovered what a vast amount there was to learn about the FBI, he attended classes and discussed the scientific methods of the Bureau with Director J. Edgar Hoover, then wrote, not one, but thirty articles!

Dink Trout, one of radio's finer character actors, is the newest addition to the cast of the Tuesday "A Date With Judy" broadcast this week.

Soprano Anna Turkel, who will be the second auditionist to compete for a Metropolitan Opera contract when she appears on "The Metropolitan Opera Presents" Sunday, was the first American soprano to sing the title role of Verdi's "Aida" in Egypt, where the scene of the opera is laid and where the world premiere of "Aida" was held at the festivities attending the opening of the Suez Canal. Miss Turkel's success in the role was so great that she has chosen the beautiful aria "Ritorna vincitor" from the first act as her auditioning solo.

Ronnie Reiss, who plays the part of Teddy, the young son of the Thompson family in Ethel Barrymore's Sunday program, "Miss Hattie," returns this week to "Life With Father" but not as an actor. Young Reiss, who made his Broadway debut as Father's second youngest redheaded son in the long-run hit, will be assistant stage manager of the play which launched him on his career.

JERSEY CURBS MINORS

TRENTON, N. J.--If you live in New Jersey and want to buy a drink, especially if you look under age, you had better have proof of your years from now on. Tavern owners got tired of being under constant threat of suspension for selling to minors. Now everyone in the state is required to register upon reaching 21 and to carry a registration card.

A DELAYED CASUALTY

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y.--Lawrence Phalin, who died from the effects of an overdose of sedative a few days ago was as much a casualty of the North African campaign as any G. I. hero. He left a suicide note saying he had been "terribly unnerved" by his 18-months' service in North Africa as a civilian employee of the Army Air Forces.
